Giro Code
$279.99

The code is key. Get the code and you can unlock the secret of performance, a pursuit of many a cyclist. Is it a cipher or a shoe? In this case, the Code is the Giro shoe that Levi Leipheimer, sometimes known as a pro roadie who has finished on the podium [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Giro Factor
$279.99

Flash is an elusive quality. It makes something stand out, yet too much is baroque. Pro gear is typically flashy, both as an advertisement for the producer as well as the rider. If it errs on the side of excess, that's ok, as it just makes the product eve [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Giro Guage
$199.99

Everyone gets into external gauges: speedometers, heart rate monitors, power meters. These are all valid ways to measure a ride. But all point to internal gauges: fatigue, lactic acid build up, perceived exertion. As important as the external is, the internal [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Giro Prolight SLX
$349.99

With one quick look at the Giro Prolight SLX Shoes, you'll know something is different. There are no mechanical closures, a rarity among pro-level shoes. This is in response to the needs of their marquee rider, Levi Leipheimer. Being meticulous about his [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Giro Trans
$199.99

The Giro Trans Shoes have all the fit and design elements of Giro's more expensive shoes, but they're also designed with your bank account in mind. That is to say that you're still getting a composite 6.5mm sole, you're still getting an upper built around [\[Product Details...\]](#)
